It is a grand and soul-stirring appeal of earnest and manly patriotism, such as only its beloved and illustrious author knows how to write. In the presence of such a contrast, how mean and craven is the fear that the South will have an influence, that it will have an influence, that it will contribute, in time, most important influences or restraints, we are glad to believe. But, if it rises at once, to the control of the Government, it will be because the North, demontaized by prosperity, and besotted by groveling interests, refuses to discharge its share of political duty. In such a case, the South not only will control the Government, but it ought to do it!

2. It is feared, with more reason, that the restoration of the South to her full independence will be detrimental to the freedmen. The sooner we dismiss from our minds the idea that the freedmen our minds the idea that the freedmen our minds the idea that the freedmen of the sound of the so

When within ten or fifteen feet of the pit, the earth between the tunnel and pit gave way, and the water rushed in so-rapidly that the men had barely time to re-treat with their lives before sixty-five feet of water filled the tunnel and shaft. This placed a damper won the energetic sockplaced a damper upon the energetic seek-ers after hidden treasure; and the work was given up after several thousand pounds had been squandered in what some of the shareholders now began to think an ignis fatuus.

ANOTHER ASSOCIATION FORMED.

Fifty years glided into eternity before the work was renewed, yet the shafts and tunnels still remained full of water, which rose and fell with the ebbing and flowing of the tide in the bay, showing clearly that the island had been pierced by subteranean passages. This brings us down to a period of fifteen years ago. A number of young men in the summer of 1848 proceeded to the island and renewed the work. They followed down the shaft of their predecessors, when they encountered the same difficulty—water coming in upon them. After bailing it out they pierced the bottom of the pit with a chisel and the bottom of the pit with a chisel and sledge-ball augur, at a distance of ninety-eight feet from the surface, when they struck a hard wooden obstruction, which they confidently believed to be the money chest. A Poem from the Spirit of Ed-gar A. Poe.

Ms. Editor: In my lecture on last Wednesday evening I had occasion to read the following remarkable poem, originally spoken by Miss Doten, at the conclusion of one of ker "so-called" trance lectures. It purports to come from the spirit of Ed-car A Poe. No believer in the doctrines It purports to come from the spirit of Edgar A. Poe. No believer in the doctrines of spiritualism. I can only regard it as a most exquisite specimen of poetical literature; possessing in an eminent degree all the essential elements of true poetry which has been properly defined by Leigh Hunt as "the utterance of the passion for beauty and power, embodying and illustrating its conceptions by imagination and fancy, and modulating its language on the principle of variety in uniformity."

The copy in my possession was given me some months ago, in manuscript, by Colonel H——, a prominent spiritualist, living in Huntsville, Texas. By request of several ladies of Talladega, I submit a copy for publication in your paper.

He would inculcate the same doctrines, would advocate the same doctrines, would advocate the same Unionism and exhibit the same patriotism and devotion to the best interests of the entire country. We hope he will make an extended tour throughout the Southern States at as early a day as his public duties at the Capital will permit. And we trust the Secretary of State will go with him and let the Southern people hear him talk. Mr. Seward hasn't been to the South, or at least far South, since he was a young man; and now that the "peculiar institution" is no longer a lion in the way, he could perhaps remove some old fogy prejudices and do something to promote a sound public opinion, which would react felicitously in favor of nationality and peace and prosperity upon the Northern States. Besides the President and the Secretary, Grant and Farragut and Sherman and a few more of the same sort should be of the party. Indeed, we wish there could be a hundred times as much intermingling between Northern and Southern men as there now is, and feel sure that the net result would be an increased degree of fraternity, a strengthening of the bonds of Union, and the exhibition of considerably more common sense by the citizens of both sections. If the North and the South had known each other well, there would have been no war. That calamitous event was the effect of ignorance so profound that the parties were not conscious of it—a degree of ignorance which is often hopeless. He talks plainly to the North, and he

In order to save unnecessary corre spondence, notice is hereby given that a personal examination is requisite in every case before a correct opinion can be given or the appropriate treatment prescribed In the majority of cases the remedies can be applied at home, and one interview is therefore usually sufficient.

The following are a few of the nume ous testimonials received in Cincinnati from parties well known throughout the Others of a similar character can be seen at the Doctor's rooms:

Cure of Capt. Silas F. Miller. Proprietor of the Burnet House, Cincinnati. BURNET HOUSE, February 9, 1866.

TO MY FRIENDS AND THE PUBLIC: It affords me great satisfaction to be able to testify to the success of Dr. Lighthill in the treatment of deafness, and express my ense of obligation to him.

My hearing has been impaired for a number of years, at times to such an exnse of obligation to him. ent as to embarrass me seriously. Dr. Lighthill, under whose care I placed my-If, has removed the difficulty comple and restored me to perfect hearing.

I have not time to reply to letters of a quiry touching the subject, nor can I say nything further but what is embodied in he above statement, which is correct in every particular.

The genuineness of the certificate will be vouched for by the proprietors of the Louisville Hotel. SILAS F. MILLER

Cure of Deafness of Twenty Years' Standing.

Editorial from the Cincinnati Gazette, April 9.

An Old Citizen of Cincinnati Gazette, April 9.

An Old Citizen of Cincinnati Restored to Hearing.—In illustration of the success which science can achieve, if directed by skillful hands, and when combined with the necessary practical experience, we may cite the case of Mr. William Jones, who has recently been restored to hearing by Dr. Lighthill, at the Burnet House.

Mr. Jones, residing at No. 400 Race street, is an old citizen of Cincinnati, having resided here since 1816, and is now upward of seventy-five years of age. For the past twenty years he had been hard of hearing, and the difficulty increased to such an extent that within the past year or two he was not able to hear common conversation, and had to be spoken to in a very loud tone of voice. Hearing of Dr. Lighthill's success, he applied to him for relief, though scarcely hoping that his case could be benefited, on account of his age and the long duration of the malady. Being assured by the Doctor, after a most careful examination, that his case was not beyond hope, he placed himself under treatment, and in a short time had the satisfaction to find his hearing perfectly restored. Though we have at various times chronicled the remarkable cures of deafness and catarrh which the Doctor has performed upon some of our most respectable citizens, the present case is the most remarkable of all, and deserves more than a passing notice at our hands, both on account of the advanced age of the patient, and the long duration of the defective hearing. In New York and throughout the East Dr. Lighthill has long since been acknowledged as standing at the head of his profession in the special department to which he devotes his attention, and his success in Cincinnati fully confirms the good reports of him that have on, and his success in Cincinnati fully confirms the good reports of him that have reached us, and establishes on a firm basis his well-merited reputation in the West.

Cure of Wm. H. Lampton, Esq.,

of Portsmouth, 0. To the Public:

It was my misfortune to suffer for years with a distressing disease of the throat and lungs, which made my breathing quite difficult, and brought on an exhaustive and obstinate cough, greatly enfebling my health. To add to my affliction, I began to lose my hearing, and grew so deaf that I could not hear preaching, even when in the seat nearest to our minister. Growing steadily worse in spite of all the usual medical efforts, I applied to Dr. Lighthill in February last, and, to my agreeable surprise, I improved from the very commencement of his treatment. The troublesome cough diminished, the breathing became free and natural, the distress in my throat disappeared, and my hearing was the skirts.

A GOOD IDEA .- In view of the frequency of unknown bodies found dead. Coroner Dick Moore has inaugurated a system which redounds to his humanity and liberality of disposition. He will keep a complete record of all persons upon whom inquests are held, list of properties, des criptive lists and place of burial. This will, no doubt, often enable the friends of persons lost to identify bodies which other wise would rest in nameless graves.

"MISCELLANIES OF FULKERSON."-This long looked for book has been laid upon our book table. It embodies "his latest and best productions in prose and poetry. It reflects the highest credit upon his ge nius. The "eccentricities" only add to the flavor of this prose and poetic gem. It has the true afflatus of Mount Helicon, and the tastes of the honey of Hymetius. The book is dedicated to Judge R. A. Burton. of Marion county.

THE JAIL .- The slate last night recorded the arrest of Christopher Russell, charged with stealing a horse in Harrison county, Indiana. He was arrested by Chief Kaye and Tom Slater. Joseph Farleigh was rendered by his bail. Benjamin Moren and - Breedin were lodged in Castle Thomas. They are charged with roll bing negroes in Scott county, Ky.

THE REED ROBBERY .- We are informed that two of the $1,000 Louisville and Nashville Railroad bonds stolen from Mr. Reed on Monday night, were deposited with Messrs. Marks & Co. on Third street yesterday morning, and that the person depositing them received upon them the sum of $200. This person, however, is still at large and undiscribed.

KENTUCKY MILITARY INSTITUTE.-This model institution of learning begins a fall session on Monday next. We are glad to learn that the prosperity of the institute was never more bright or promising. Ohio River Salt Company, Louisville, Ky:
DEAR SIR: We have examined the Ohio River Salt, on the points in connection with the practical application of salt, in comparison with similar articles employed in this market. The only salt in market with which we were enabled to compare your salt was that from Kanawha. The points tested were in relation to the amount of pure salt, the lation to the amount of pure salt, most practiced chemist to take one hundred barrels of the two varieties equally well coopered, and pronounce with cer-tainty as to the brand to which belonged the different barrels. In conclusion, we would state, as the result of our examina-tions, that there is no better salt brought to this market for packing meat, and for the other uses to which salt is applied than the Ohio River Salt.

The President's Future Route,

CHICAGO, Sept. 6-11 P. M. President Johnson and suite arrived by ne splendid special train from Detroit at half-past 10 o'clock, and were received at the depot by the military, Knights Temp ar, and other bodies. A procession was formed at the railway station, and the distinguished visitors were escorted to the erman House, where at least 30,000 people had congregated to join in the welome. It was a significant ovation. The eautiful new hotel building was gorgeously ecorated with flags and transparencies, nd a grand display of fire works was made from the balconies and roof of the Sherman House and adjacent houses. The reat Western and other bands played the ational airs amid the wildest enthusiasm. On arriving at the Sherman House Presdent Johnson was conducted to the front rerandah, and there introduced to the cople of Chicago by the Mayor, in a hort speech. The President returned thanks for the great demonstration, dis laiming that it was meant to honor him personally, but to express the love of the people for the Government of which he as the Chief Executive. He paid a high nd patriotic and statesmanlike tribute to the people of the nation, in whom he had ver and solely relied for support. We halted for ten minutes and the party proceeded to a stand erected, where the President and other high officers were enthusiastically cheered. While the applause was in full blast a portion of the platform gave way. Some of those who were standing on it fell between the planks. One boy was seriously hurt, while others escaped with bruises. Three or four of the reportorial corps had an uncomfortable descent. The excitement was very great, but it subsided as soon as assurance was given that we have the state of the fourth, by order of General Kiddoo, Assistant Superintendent for the State.

Seven times in 1865 he proclaimed through his Secretary of State, as he did to South Carolina, the President considers the acceptance of the amendment by South Carolina as indispensible to the arbitration of her relations with the other States of the Union.

In his first message to Congress he said it was not too much to ask that each rebel State should, before it resumed its place in the family of the Union, give evidences and pledges of loyalty.

Did he consider all political rights restored to States where the rebel armies surrendered. Each had a Governor and other officers, yet he set them aside and appointed not military Governors, for the war was over, but provisional ones. He orders the convention to be held and directs wherein the convention should be amendated.

war was over, but provisional ones. He orders the convention to be held and directs wherein the convention should be amended. The States were then not only supreme. They had not the power to demand immediate representation. No one was then bold enough to ask as did Johnson in New York, will we submit or will the American people submit to this practical dissolution. Mr. Raymond was there to say 10,000,000 of Americans who live in the South would be unworthy citizens of a free country if they accept with uncontaining submission. A Good Thing from Punch. The Emperor of the French is thus severely cauterized by Punch. It is decidedly the latest and best thing we have seen lately from that source:

A Carn.—Louis Napoleon begs to inform the Emperors and Kings of Europe, and the public generally, that his business of commission agency is carried on as heretofore at the Palace of the Tuileries, where he may be consulted daily, or, if pressing need be, nightly, and where all confidential letters must be sent. Having a few of the ideas which belonged to his late uncle, L. N., may be safely consulted on state subjects, and feels himself quite competent to give the best advice. In all matters of dispute his judgment is proverbial; and, being thoroughly a master of diplomatic language, he is able, for his clients, to prove that white is black.

Besides his advice to kings and emperors in need of it, Louis Napoleon is prepared to act for them as umpire at the very shortest notice, and may be relied upon for giving a decision quite unbiased by any party interested, except, of course, himself. In arbitration cases, and quarrels between frends, L. N. may be called in without pecuniary fee, provided there be some little advantage to be gained by him. His knowledge of geography is thoroughly profound, and enables him to render an inestimable service to any one desirous of correcting an old map. Having had great experience in the art of land seen lately from that source:

desirous of correcting an old map. Having had great experience in the art of land surveying, he is ready to advise as to the altering of boundaries and removal of all landmarks which may be thought a little obsolete and somewhat out of date. L. N. may, in like manner, be privately considered to the control of unsetting the constitution of the control of the contro sulted as to the best means of upsetting an old treaty; and his advice may be had traits as to changing or removing any an-

Countries bought and sold, or valued and allotted, as the empire may direct. New maps exchanged for old ones. State treaties neatly broken, and the pieces picked up with the greatest care. A few more Emperors, like Maximilian, always kept on hand, and ready to be exported at half a moment's notice to any nation wanting them. Cracked crowns exchanged and repaired. State secrets kept most carefully. Clever negotiators, such as Prince Napoleon, prepared to start upon important diplomatic missions, and furnished from headquarters with the brains they may require. A private telegraph upon the premises to all the capitals in Europe, and an efficient staff of clerks, who sit up day and night.

A Peculiar Railroad. A correspondent of the Cincinnati Com-

ranch railroad in Ohio:

One's traveling experience is never com-plete until he has made a trip over what is known as the ——branch of the ——rail-road. The distance is sixteen miles, and I doubt if there is another road in the ted States that gives a man more riding on his money. It passes through a low, swampy section, and has never been gravelled, deep ditches being cut on either side to keep the track from inundation in wet weather. These ditches are always filled off at will, and even women and children appear suddenly in the passenger coach and disappear again before you know it. The locomotive is an interesting object. Imagine the first one you ever saw. It is seally marvelous that she sticks to the rack. The engineer is a queer old genius, oo, and resembles his engine as much as it is possible for man to look like a locomotive. And he understands every inch for the road to perfection—the curves, sints, broken iron, &c.; in fact, knows rapids known as the Cedara, she suddenly failed to obey her radder; an instant examination told the pilot and his assistants that the chain by which it was connected was snapped, and a simultaneous shout from the pilot-box, "Captain, we're stove," "we're lost," apprised Captain DeWitt that they were in the midst of the seething and waves and rocks unbeimed, disabled, and have created an uproar among the passences, gers at once fatal. With a coolness almost stoic, Captain DeWitt communicated the flightful position of things to only three or four, proceeding at the same time to connect the chain. He had scarcely commenced the work when the vessel struct are not left, and announcing to all on board the full extent of the danger. The boat after striking continued to float is side ways, and the only resource for life appeared to exist in a rapid but desperate push to gain the lower mouth of the gorge. Captain DeWitt accordingly commanded "steam at full head," and at a velocity by the combined power of the steam and curses threatening it, the vessel drifted in triumph through the rapid, reaching the open water in safety.

INSANITY AND INTEMPERANCE IN FRANCE. The French playsician, Dr. Joly, who brought himself into notice by a crusanda against the use of tobacco, is now making a similar attack, through the Paris papers, on excessive drinking. According to bim, this vice is fast-increasing in France. A second of the content of th nestion of races of mankind is

causes of the evil. It is stated that men are more prome to idiotey and women to maduess, and that hereditary insanity is more common among women than among men. Out of 1,000 lunatics of each sex, 144 women and 135 men inherited the disease from their parents. The transmission of madness has been found to descend most frequently from father to son, and from mother to daughter. Out of 1,000 cases, 607 may be ascribed to physical and 393 to moral causes. After careful observation, 15,866 cases were thus classified in the report in question: Senile madness, 2,098; poverty and privation, 1,008; abase of pleasure, 1,026; excessive drinking, 3,455; congenital defects, 474; diseases peculiar to females, 1,592; epilepsy, 1,498; affections of the nervous system, 1,136; accidents, 398; various diseases, 2,017; other physical causes, 1,164. From this analysis we see that the abuse of alcohol accounts for one-fifth of the insanity of France. It is also noted that 2,549 patients in the lunatic asylums of France are mad from domestic trouble; 1,725 from "other moral causes," and that 1,093 have lost their wits through religious sentents carried to excess. The loss of friends accounts for the presence of 503, and the loss of fortune for 581; 767 are witerims to love, and 456 to jealousy. Only 31 persons have gone mad from disappointed ambition, 162 from remorse, 123 from passion, 350 from excess of intellectual for the moral causes, and 69 from wounded modesty.

THE NASSAU BANK DEPALCATION.—The tease of George H. Briggs, the defaulting appeared at once. Mr. Kennedy the third event and the weak of the result and the with their cause of George H. labor, 123 from political events, and 69 swampy section, and has never been gravelled, deepditches being cut on either side to keep the track from inundation in wet weather. These ditches are always filled with water, and as the train moves slowly along beneath the dense foliage of the overhanging trees, the bull frogs gaze at us from their cool retreats. They (the frogs) lately held a convention, and resolved if the road didn't make better time they would take it and run it 'on their own hook."

The road is laid with the old strap rail, and in many places where this is worn away they "go it" on the bare timber. No such thing as a culvert or cattle guard is known. This was a source of great inconvenience to the farmers hereabout at one time—not that they ever ran over any, but the cattle could stray away. The "honest yeomanry" stood this awhile, but finally put up their fences the same as though there was no such road as the "Branch" in existence. It was then necessary for a man to go ahead and let down the bare!

There is only one stopping place on the road. Here we took the side track, to let the hand-car pass. Persons get on and off at will, and even women and children appear suddenly in the passenger coach and dead and and gappear again before you know it.
